A MINISTRY OF TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bread and Roses Steering Committee Chair Job Description

Summary

Bread & Roses, the primary outreach ministry of Trinity Episcopal Church, is “transforming the ways we acquire, cook, and relate to the food we eat”. We work in the Charlottesville community to support teaching the individual skills of cooking, gardening, and nutrition choices, while paying attention to the larger issues of shifting toward a more equitable and accessible food system. We work to facilitate these shifts—seed by seed and bite by bite—by using our outdoor space for organic demonstration gardens and our commercial kitchen for classes and micro food businesses, and by collaborating to share our resources with other community organizations.

We are seeking a Steering Committee Chair. In coordination with our Program Coordinator, the Chair will bring their energy, skills, and talent to running an organized, action-oriented Steering Committee. This is an unpaid position.

Skills and Qualifications

- Passionate about food justice, defined as communities exercising their right to grow, sell, and eat healthy food
- Dedicated to, and reflective about, the value of diversity and inclusion
- Is a solutions-oriented team player and values diverse perspectives
- Has a track record of leadership and management, board experience a plus
- Organized and able to create systems for clear communication
- Experienced with financial management (i.e. budget oversight, fundraising)
- Is familiar with, and has relationships, in the Charlottesville community
- Shares value of ministry, and sees this work as part of one’s vocation
- Has capacity to fulfill responsibilities (maximum 10 hours per month for 1 year)

Responsibilities

- Oversee and manage Committee communications and project progress
- Oversee and manage Committee systems and operations
- Together with the current Committee, recruit 3 Committee members
- Co-manage budget and fundraising with a vision towards sustainability
- Cultivate external partnerships
